

A promotional photograph of three men, Daniel Rodriguez, Andy Cooney, and Christopher Macchio, standing in front of a New York City skyline. The men are dressed in formal black attire. The background features the Manhattan skyline with prominent skyscrapers like the Empire State Building and the Freedom Tower, and the Queensboro Bridge spanning the East River. The sky is filled with dramatic, colorful clouds, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The title 'THE NEW YORK TENORS' is prominently displayed at the top in a large, white, serif font with a blue outline and a drop shadow.

Andy Cooney christened by the New York Times as “Irish America’s Favorite Son”, has been taking the Irish-American music scene by storm for over 30 years. Andy’s unique tenor voice has been heard in concert halls internationally, including hallmark venues ranging from Dublin’s National Concert Hall to sold-out performances in New York’s iconic Carnegie Hall. Cooney’s show credits also include “American Voices” placing him on stage with Grammy Award winners, legendary Larry Gatlin and the ever-popular Crystal Gayle in Performing Arts Centers and Concert Halls throughout the U.S. Andy also has toured Ireland and the US with Ireland’s ambassador of music, Phil Coulter. Andy has recorded 20 albums and has had several hit singles in Ireland. Andy annually produces The Cruise of Irish Stars with Irish Tenor Ronan Tynan That draws over a thousand Irish Americans for the last 26 years.

Daniel Rodriguez first captured the attention of Americans everywhere during some of the darkest moments in our nation’s history. He was the New York City police officer whose amazing voice soothed our grief in the days following September 11th. Daniel’s career highlights include performing with Boston Pops Orchestra and debuting before a worldwide audience at the 2002 Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City, Utah. Other multimedia appearances include, ESPN broadcasts, The Today Show, The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, The Oprah Winfrey Show and The Late Show with David Letterman. Daniel Rodriguez is a champion for many charities and continues to inspire, stir and embrace his listeners through his stirring recordings and memorable concert performances.

Christopher Macchio, a classically-trained lyric tenor from the Manhattan School of Music, gained acclaim for his compelling performances at high-profile venues like Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center, blending a “golden-era” technique with heartfelt passion and patriotism. His tenor voice has been featured in NYC’s Opera Nova Company, with television appearances on NBC, PBS, and ABC’s Red Carpet Stage at New York’s 5th Avenue Columbus Day Parade. He was given the title “America’s Tenor” in the Oval Office by President Trump after performing on the White House balcony during the 2020 Republican National Convention. He has performed numerous times for the President since, including singing our National Anthem at the Inauguration January 20, 2025.
